

Adventure of Doggyspoon

One day Doggyspoon was going to Toys R Us to buy a Wii game about a tea party, when suddenly the giant deck of cards came to life. Before Doggyspoon could react, the leader, black joker, was taping the doors shut with a giant roll of super sticky masking tape. When Doggyspoon tried to break through the tape with his bone of justice, he became trapped in the tape and couldn't get out. As soon as the black joker saw this he immediately took all of Doggyspoon's things and threw them into the closet and locked the door. Doggyspoon was thinking "OH NO I'm in so much trouble I'm trapped in this sticky mess!"

But just as he finished thinking that, Kittyspoon came in to try and save Doggyspoon but before Doggyspoon could warn her she got caught into the sticky mess too. When black joker saw this he started to laugh so hard that he didn't realize that Doggyspoon's trusty companion flowered coaster was sneaking up on the non-sticky side of the tap and set Doggyspoon and Kittyspoon free. When Doggyspoon was free he yelled at the shopkeeper to tie up the shopkeeper with a Phillies lanyard so that the evil card couldn't get away. Tying all of the cards up with a Phillies lanyard and putting them in a line would turn them all back to normal cards never again to become alive.

After they put all of the cards back in the box and threw the box in a safe, locked the door, and threw away the key Doggyspoon told the shopkeeper to make sure he read into all of the items he sells before he sells them so this wouldn't happen again.

By: Michael, Chinidu, Gwyn , Colin, Abigail, and Matt

