

The Adventure to find the Magical Acorn

Once upon a time, there was a magical acorn. This acorn, if found, would give you three wishes. Stripes, the tiger and Johnny, the squirrel both set out on an adventure to find the magical acorn.

Johnny and Stripes hop on their bikes and begin their adventure. They ride around all day trying to find the magical acorn, but they can't find it anywhere! All they find is an ordinary acorn. They give up on their adventure and go home.

On their way home, they see something glowing in the grass! They anxiously ride towards it. They don't know what the bright glow is. As they ride towards it, it looks bigger and brighter! When they reach the glow they realize that it's the magical acorn! They had never seen anything like it before. They immediately grab the acorn and put it in their bag. They are both so excited that they found the magical acorn, but they are still tired from their long adventure. They hop back on their bikes and quickly ride home.

They next morning they wake up. They try to decide who should keep the acorn, Stripes or Johnny? They get into a big argument over who should keep the magical acorn. They finally come to an agreement and realize how important this acorn is. They decide to split it in half and save it for when they both really need it. They put it in a box and hide it in the closet. They can't wait to use it!
