

Erin M., Amy R., Amanda S. Nathan G., Aidan D., Paul W.

GINGER AND THE MAGIC CORAL

Once upon a time, there was a magic piece of coral named Emily. This magic coral protected all of the sea creatures from sharks and other dangerous threats. But this magic piece of coral was in great danger because the evil ruler, disguised as a fish, was planning to secretly attack it in a very short amount of time. So the magic tikki statue named George told Ginger the camel to travel to the ocean, where the coral is, on the magic carpet to protect it from the evil ruler's attacks. But Ginger had a very big problem. Because she lived in the desert, she did not know how to get to the ocean, or how long it would take her to reach it. What was she going to do? She decided she was going to ask George, the magic tikki man, for directions. After she got directions, she was on her way. But along the way, she arrives at three different paths and she doesn't know which one to take. Again, she goes to the tikki man and asks where to go again. Finally, she arrives at Emily's home. Then, Emily, Ginger, and George work together to destroy the evil ruler and restore peace to the ocean. And they all live happily ever after, the end.

